Using this template

Confirm your reader’s requirements first. Research and draft the sections, calculate linked financial statements, then write the executive summary. Remove guidance before submitting. A template is a starting structure; lenders and immigration programs judge your content and supporting evidence, and may require additional documents.

1. Executive summary

Write this last. Summarize your business, location, customer problem, solution, competitive advantage, milestones and financial outlook. State the funding purpose and repayment case if applicable.

2. Company overview

Enter the legal and trading names, province or territory, registration status, ownership percentages, business address and stage of development. Explain the mission, history, objectives and measurable milestones. Identify permits and regulatory requirements to verify.

4. Market analysis

Define the target customer and geography. Record current research sources, dates and limitations. TAM (total addressable market): estimate total relevant demand using a documented method. SAM (serviceable available market): narrow demand to the customers and geography you can serve. SOM (serviceable obtainable market): justify a realistic share using acquisition capacity, competition and delivery limits. Use consistent units and periods; distinguish evidence from assumptions. Compare competitors, substitutes, demand trends, barriers and key risks.

5. Marketing and sales plan

Explain positioning, channels, promotion, sales process and customer retention. Assign activities, budgets, owners and dates. Document lead volumes, conversion assumptions, sales cycle, acquisition costs and payment terms. Link sales targets to the revenue assumptions and test how slower sales affect cash.

8. Financial plan

Use CAD unless you clearly state another currency. Define the forecast start date, accounting basis, tax treatment, owner compensation, inflation, payment timing and borrowing terms. Build calculations in a spreadsheet; these blank tables do not calculate totals. Support costs with dated quotes and research. Add monthly cash flow for the first year and any schedules required by your reader. Reconcile income, cash flow, balance sheets and funding; test a downside case.

Startup costs and opening funding needs

| Cost / use of funds | CAD amount | Quote / source / date |
|---|---|---|
| Registration, permits and professional fees | | |
| Premises, deposits and leasehold improvements | | |
| Equipment and technology | | |
| Opening inventory and supplies | | |
| Pre-opening payroll and marketing | | |
| Opening working capital reserve | | |
| Contingency (explain basis) | | |
| Other (specify) | | |
| Total startup requirement | | |

Revenue assumptions

Use one row per revenue stream. Specify the unit (jobs, units, subscriptions or billable hours), period, capacity ceiling, seasonality, collection timing and evidence. Revenue = volume × price; distinguish sales from cash receipts.

| Stream / unit | Price (CAD) | Volume / period | Evidence / timing |

9. Funding request

If funding is needed, specify the amount, proposed debt or equity, timing and exact uses. Separate confirmed owner funds from requested or conditional financing. Match sources to startup costs and working capital; explain repayment capacity and downside risks. Describe security only where relevant and verified. For CSBFP or BDC, confirm current eligibility, lender forms and evidence requirements directly; this template does not establish approval. If no external funding is sought, explain how the business will be financed.
